

Insights for Title Companies

New standards in data quality

When you work with Property Insight, you work with professionals who are serious about data quality. From our National Data Discrepancy Program, where customers report data and image discrepancies from our plant search applications, to our plant conversion initiatives that include comprehensive quality control measures, you find people dedicated to data integrity. You will also connect to data that is historically rich and diverse, including property and grantor-grantee indexed plants, a nationwide document image repository, starter records, map images and image back plants.

Connect to data using advanced plant search software that includes end-to-end order management, or through on-demand services that include title production support, special search services and back plant services. For ultimate efficiency, we can provide access using XML / Web Services connectivity directly to your title production platform.

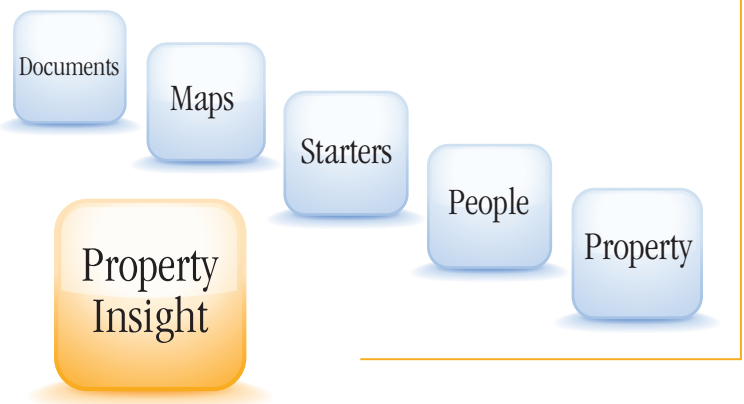

The definitive source for property information

Owned by Fidelity National Financial, Property Insight is a leading information services and technology company serving the title insurance and real estate markets. We collect, manage and deliver information sourced from public record sources, including:

- Recorder/Registry of Deeds offices
- Tax assessor offices
- Tax collector offices
- Local, state and federal courts *
- Proprietary databases compiled and managed by Fidelity National Financial companies, including starter records

Search and retrieve title search packages, document images and maps and order on-demand services provided through our Special Services departments. Manage title orders from start to finish, including date-down. Create paperless search packages than can be printed and shared.
