

Higher performance in title searching and order management

A smart, powerful and full-featured search engine

TitlePoint® sets the standard for automation and efficiency in title order searching, and order management. Its leading edge architecture enables high-volume title production in a Web browser-based application. By connecting users with rich, geographically-posted plants and related land record documents, it easily produces comprehensive search packages, combining title, tax, document image and starter records in an intuitively-organized, examination-ready package.

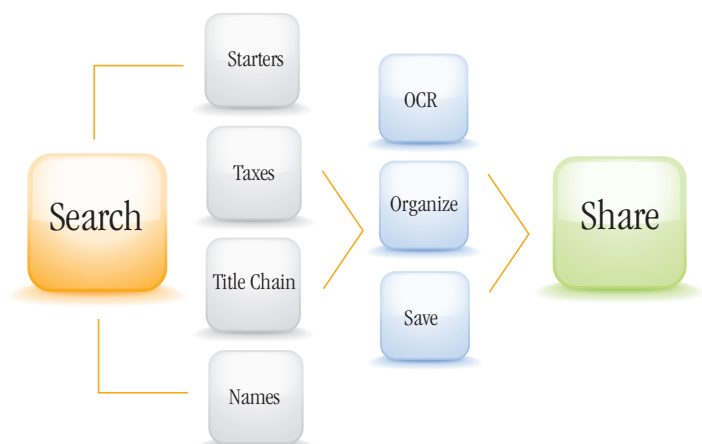

Perform these searches:

- Run a single search of tax, title and documents using the Combo Search feature
- Automate property, tax and name searching using the Auto-run feature
- Perform specialized tax, property, name, instrument and starter record searches
- Create merged searches by combining property searches into a single order

Workflow functions that improve your efficiency

- Expand or refine your search criteria at any time
- Open and view source document images from the title chain

- View, annotate and rotate document images using the integrated image viewer
- Convert image areas in source documents to text using Optical Character Recognition
- Automated order date-down and fall-out capability
- Easily perform order maintenance: close, cancel and delete orders

Optimize TitlePoint for the way you do business

TitlePoint's user preference settings allow you to define default search parameters, presentation of search results, combination search functions and automated order printing.

Go paperless to save time and expense

TitlePoint can create a paperless search and examination process. You can produce complete search packages, including the title chain, tax records, documents and starter records, that are ready for examination and easily transportable across your network.

Expanding to new markets and adding new data

Available today in major markets in Arizona, California, Indiana, Ohio and Washington, TitlePoint is coming soon to Chicago. And search coverage is expanding to include more starter records and tax records in all the markets we serve.

Full product and technical support

Property Insight supports TitlePoint with on-site and telephone training, product and technical support—available from offices located in the Midwest and West.

What's New in TitlePoint 3.8?

- Merge property searches into a single order as you create them
- More efficient management of large search result sets
- Greater detail in title chain records

Performance

TitlePoint's architecture and technical design enable fast searching and information management.

Efficiency

Perform combination searches of tax, title and images, including starter records. Create merged searches that combine multiple parcels into a single package.

Reliability

Years of research, development and testing have produced a search application that streamlines your workflow while adding capacity at every phase of the title production process.

Telephone 877.747.2537 for sales or go to propertyinsight.biz

From Property Insight. Expect More.